Southern Gets 'OK' For Campus TV Station

By Roger Masering
Staff Reporter

An application for an educational television station at SIU was approved last week by the Federal Communications Commission.

Buren C. Robbins, director of SIU Broadcasting Service, led the Egyptian Tuesday that the provisions of the FCC make the University may install a $16,000 watt transmitter to operate on VHF Channel 8. The transmitter will be built on a lot of land one and one fourth miles southwest of Tamaqua, in Perry County. Signal strength of the station will be powerful enough to transmit programs throughout a major portion of Southern Illinois.

In order to provide the maximum coverage with the station's 6,000 watts, a 900 foot tower is to be built at the Tamaqua site. By comparison, the Empire State Building is 1,461 feet high.

The television studios will be constructed on the main campus at Carbondale. Programs will be carried from the studios to the transmitter at Tamaqua by microwave relay.

Not Limited To Campus

"In addition," he said, "the television station will provide many programs and services not limited to the SIU campus."

Specifically, this includes in-

Opens Tonight

Road Good For Actors

The road engagement of "Bus Engagement," Moe said. "On a road," by the Southern Players, is of great value to the actors' preparation for tonight's opening at the Southern Placchoso, according to Director Christian.

A road tour before opening on Broadway is a bonus in the professional theatre, Moe says. He believes the Players' tour of southern Illinois communities, which is scheduled 24 performances, will show up in the play's seventh run on campus.

Certain time is 8 p. m. for comedies, written by William G. Moe. Nightly performances are scheduled through next Saturday with the exception of Monday.

"The most important development of the play's tour is that it gives actors the opportunity to be before a great number of audiences," Moe said. "They are to gauge audience reaction to the play in the same way."

Good Shape

The play "In good shape" before the Southern Players before the southern Illinois tour, but the road engagement helped, he said.

The tour helped the actors to perfect their lines. They learned new values in various lines of the script with such an extended viewing. This will familiarize students and faculty with television as an educational medium and assist in improving instructional programs for classes with an excess of students, Robbins said.

A full-time staff of engineers and technicians for installation and operation of both circuits will be developed as needed.

During the past several months, a number of departments have done definite planning toward presentation of television courses for academic credit, adult education, and cultural enrichment programs. For use on either an open or closed circuit, these programs are under the direction of Richard Urey of the Broadcasting Service.

Cultural enrichment programs include such things as information on world happenings, drama, music, art and science programs.

"The ultimate objective of any broadcasting operation at Southern—especially on closed circuit—will be an operation that will assist and implement the programs of all University departments, schools and colleges," Robbins said.

So far, no date has been set for the completion of the project.

"It is not yet possible to say when the station will go on the air because we don't know definitely when construction will begin," the director said.

When asked if there was a chance that construction of the television station might for any reason be sidetracked, Robbins had this to say:

"The University has invested and approved VHF Channel 8 as an educational television station for Southern Illinois. Since 1951, Broadcasting Service has pushed forward toward that goal. If the University hadn't been certain that it was going into television operation and recognized the value of it, it's unlikely that they would have put in that much effort."

Hedrick Aide To Institute

Basil C. Hedrick has been named assistant director of the Latin American Institute by the SIU Board of Trustees. Dr. Albert Beck, director of the Institute, is currently serving as a Fulbright lecturer at the University of Sao Marcos in Lima, Peru.

Hedrick comes to Southern from the University of Florida, where he was assistant director of the School of Inter-American Studies. A native of Lewistown, Mo., he received his bachelor's degree from Augustana College in Rock Island, with a major in Spanish literature.

Hedrick holds a master's degree from the University of Florida, with a major in Latin American history.

Debaters In Two Tournaments Saturday

SIU debate teams will be entered in two tournaments tomorrow, with two variety teams in the Greenville College Invitational and two freshmen teams in the Butler University Novice Tournament at Indianapolis.

Debate coach M. Jack Parker will enter the team of Gailverne Kopp, Benton, and Sharon Loveless, Matton, in the Greenville meet along with the team of Kent Brandon of Carbondale and Keith Sanders, Benton.

The two teams have a total record of 11 wins and 3 losses for the season.

Miss Hughes' speech was under the supervision of Dr. Ralph A. Micken, chairman of the speech department at SIU.

Gary Bengtson and Brandon were rated superior in extemporaneous speaking in a field of 100 participants. Miss Rosenblum received a superior award in a field of 90 contestants in oral interpretation of literature.

Music Program Kicks Off Christmas Week

First Student Singer In Oratorio Solo

Larry Jarvis, a sophomore voice major from Hematite, Mo., will be the first student singer ever featured in the annual Southern Illinois Oratorio Society concert when he sings tenor solo here Sunday.

The concert, which is usually a standing-room-only affair, will be presented in Shryock Auditorium at 3 p. m. It is free to the public. Handel's "Dettingen Te Deum," an oratorio originally composed to celebrate a British battle victory, will be the highlight of the program.

The Society includes the SIU choir. An invited group of high school chorists from Carbondale University High, Herrin, Marion, Stanner of Wolf Lake, Blufford and West Frankfort, and the Southern Illinois Symphony Orchestra will also participate. The program will be broadcast live over WSRV-FM.

The "Te Deum" was written by Handel in 1743 to celebrate the victory over the French by George II's troops at the village of Dettingen. First performed at the Thanksgiving service in London, St. Paul's Cathedral, the choral work was a great success. These speakers were under the supervision of Miss Marion Davis and Mrs. Frances Loder of the SIU speech department.

British Writer Here Tonight

British author-humorist - historian C. Northcote Parkinson will appear at Browne Auditorium at 7:30 p. m. tonight.

Parkinson, Ruffin professor of history at the University of Malaya, is on a cross-country lecture tour after completing a summer lecture series on "The History of the British Empire" at Harvard.

Author of the recent worldwide best seller "Parkinson's Law," Parkinson has also penned many books on economic, naval and military history, just recently ventured into satirical political economics.

"Time" describes his views as "a delightfully unprofessional diagnosis of that widespread 20th century malady—galloping organization."

The lecture will be open to the public, faculty and students.

Girl Falls From Bed; Breaks Arm

Woody Hall's safety record was spoiled Wednesday night when Marion was rushed by ambulance to Doctor's Hospital, where X-rays were made of her arm. She was returned—safe and nearly sound—the same night.

Miss Mayberry, a sophomore from Marion, was rushed by ambulance to Doctor's Hospital, where X-rays were made of her arm. She was returned—safe and nearly sound—the same night.

Scientists Chase Gooney Birds

Two SIU scientists have been given permission to collect specimens of "gooney birds" on Midway Island.

Dr. Harvey Fisher, chairman of the SIU zoology department, and assistant professor John Downey will leave this week to collect some of the birds—known officially as the Laysan Albatross—for Southern, Yale University, the Smithsonian Institute and other agencies.

Midway Island is the only spot in the world where the "gooney birds" go during breeding season. Heavy populations of them there have proved to be a major headache to the U. S. Navy's airfield operations, but all efforts to exterminate the birds to nest somewhere else have been fruitless.

Dr. Fisher and Dr. Downey are the only American scientists who have received permission from the Navy this year for a collecting expedition on Midway.

Write-In For Senator Today

A write-in vote will elect a new Student Family Housing society for the Student Council Tuesday, according to Robert Hardwick, student body president.

Petitions for candidates were to be turned in to the Student Government Office last week. But since no petitions were submitted, the election will be write-in.

Polls will be erected at the entrance of Chautauque Housing behind the Life Science Building; the new family housing center; and the University family living trailer court. The polls will open from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m.

Students voting at the election will not need an ID card or fee statement card, according to Hardwick. The polls will be supplied with a listing of all residents living in that area and the names will be checked as the students vote.

The election was called when Jerry Lynn, former Family Housing Senator, resigned.

Southern's second Model United Nations General Assembly will be held on Dec. 12-13. The Assembly is sponsored by the Student Government, assisted by the International Relations Club.

$1,000 Award Now Given

A $1,000 merit scholarship for an SIU student who is the son or daughter of a member of a Herring textile workers union has been set up by the union.

The 800 members of local 1374 of the Textile Workers Union of America—the AFL-CIO union representing Allen Industries of Herring—voted to donate $1,000 from its treasury to the SIU Foundation for a one-year scholarship. The first award will be made for the school year beginning next fall.

Kenneth Miller, executive director of the union, said the gift was the first of its kind ever received by the Foundation, said received by the Foundation, a non-profit corporation for administering gifts to the University. The gift was presented by Vernon Perrine of Rippling, president of the local, and Edward Stewart of Herring, financial secretary.

Donald L. Bryant of Ladue, Mo., president of the Foundation, praised the gesture and said he hoped it would set a precedent for similar scholarship awards through the Foundation.

The scholarship will pay $333.33 per quarter to the winning candidate. Children of Herring local members will apply through the SIU Scholarship Committee which will screen all petitions.

Perrine said "it is the local's wish that the award can become permanent if members approve."

Editors' Opinions

Should Students Know?

"Did the paper have to print that?"

This is foreign language to a newspaper person's ears. His job is to get the story and write it to the best of his objective, journalistic ability and print it. It may often be physically safer to not print something which is known, but it is dangerous to the integrity and pride of the journalist.

Many people are frustrated and amazed when things which they would rather not have printed are printed.

The newspaperman and newspaperwoman is trained to report the news, often not considering that there might be some people who would rather not have the story printed. In very extreme cases, such as when a person's life is in danger or before relatives of an accident victim are notified, the newspaper can and usually will withhold the facts . . . for a time.

In the past time the EGYPTIAN has printed a few news stories and columns that many would rather have received by rumor than in black-and-white.

The case of John Peter Zenger in 1734 has set the example for newspapers. Zenger was acquitted by a New York jury after being charged with libel for printing facts unfavorable to New York's British governor.

Before this decision, it was customary to convict anyone of libel printing anything unfavorable about a person in public office . . . the truth of the matter notwithstanding.

Since the EGYPTIAN has received some comments from various persons on campus for their coverage of news and events, it is time the student body hears the EGYPTIAN's position on the matter.

We feel that our readers have the right to know when things are leaked up and "in a mess" as well as when things are going peachy ging-er.

Salad This Week

"Project Salad" started this week and will continue until the first of the year. "Salad" came to be known in the campus as a Life-A-Day traffic safety campaign instigated by Gov. William G. Stronach.

If the campaign is successful, there will be no more than 167 traffic deaths in Illinois during the year. One of 31 from the 208 killed in December a year ago.

Included in Project Salad will be Traffic Condition Yellow and Traffic Condition Red, the Governor's two holiday safety alerts that have been used successfully previously.

Condition yellow, a pre-holiday warning alert, will go into effect one week before the start of the Christmas holiday. Condition Red will be in effect during the 76-hour holiday period.

The aid of newspapers, radio and television stations throughout the state will be enlisted to appeal to motorists to drive with caution and care. Being killed in a traffic accident is terrible, but it is perhaps the lesser of many consequences. Being crippled or bankrupt by an accident is a much more serious consequence.

The alert is out. It is up to you the drivers to take heed. Being killed in a traffic accident is terrible, but it is perhaps the lesser of many consequences. Being crippled or bankrupt by an accident is a much more serious consequence.

The JD Disease!

Much has been tossed around within the last few years concerning the so-called terror and so-called disease of juvenile delinquency. The following comments on JD is written by an inmate at Menard, where the article appeared in the Menard Times newspaper. The subject is serious, the comments are serious and the impact which they leave on the reader makes one serious too.

"Juvenile delinquency caused by a problem in the young experts failed in the battle to curb it. Juvenile delinquency is a disease!"

Fortunately, for the vast majority of our younger set it is noncontagious, but for the few who tumble into its path, it is terrible. It rips into their character like a bolt of lightning striking down a sapling. It tears into the hearts of some, and for some it even snuffs out life. There are times when it destroys families from the youngest to the oldest, leaving only unhappiness and bitterness in its wake. Juvenile delinquency, indeed, is a venomous germ.

I do not know how to combat juvenile delinquency, nor am I qualified to give advice in so doing. I was bitten by the JD parasite several years ago and I'm still trying to pick myself up from the floor. The worst part of it lies in the fact that it claims its victims before even they realize it, and when they do . . . it is too late.

Parents can see it coming much easier than a child because they are older. A child doesn't see it, more often not, because "After all, Dad, all I was doing was having some fun."

Possibly, if the parents were to be the child responsible to them, instead of being precariously responsible to the child, then what better way is there in showing responsibility to the children. At least you haven't just assumed it. You've shown it.

These words are probably not the most earth-shattering ones to be written. But they are realistic and from someone who has been on the "other side" in the problem of juvenile delinquency.

Schools 'Must Stay Close To Needs Of People' . . . Morris

Public schools in a democracy "must stay close to the needs of the people," SIU President Deane W. Morris told a public forum on education reform in Havana, Cuba yesterday.

Rather than remain apart from daily living, the public schools "should so intertwine themselves into the daily life of the communities about them that they furnish intellectual leadership and stimulate dynamic social growth," Morris said.

He spoke at a forum which concluded a one-month conference devoted to "integral reform" of the public school system of Cuba.

In a democracy, Morris said, schools "must be citadels of freedom to learn and freedom to teach the truth wherever it may lead." They must also be "the first of political or religious dogma and free of economic or racial bigotry."

Pointing out that a society cannot rise above the potential of the persons who make up that society, the SIU president said that in a democracy each future citizen should have the opportunity to develop skills and talents and cultivate his intellect "to the outer limits of his own capacities."

In this connection, he emphasized special education for the mentally retarded, the physically disabled, the brilliant student, and the child of special talent. This is expensive, Morris noted, but it will benefit society for "we are coming more and more to realize that a man has worth for what he can do in the realm of the intellectual."

"In our generation we have seen the beginning of the consequences of Einstein and we have seen a crippled Roosevelt achieve national leadership success."

Passing that of the robust Theodore," Morris said. "A nation cannot afford to lose the creative, inspired leadership of good minds, even though the instruction of some of those minds may be difficult."

Morris, president for more than 10 years at SIU, which puts heavy emphasis on "serving the needs of people in their daily lives," said the potential intellectual, moral, economic and cultural force of a democracy is vast if one defines a democracy as a framework of social organization designed to enable each citizen in function at his own highest potential.

"Our schools must, therefore, assume the responsibility of providing the learning experiences that will bring about maximum achievement of the individuals making up the democracy," he said.

Difficult Task

Morris went on to note that "in a democracy educators face the difficult task of refraining from political propaganda and, at the same time, preparing students to assume responsibilities of self government."

"The vast world changes in our generation are causing a reappraisal of many things in our country," the American educator said. "They have caused us, as they are causing you, to reappraise, re-evaluate and re-orient public education."

"It is my belief that our nation could not exist as it is today had there not been from the beginning a desire for universal free education and the will to achieve it," Morris asserted. "That our nation is not a perfect nation is due to the fact that our educational system has not been perfect. However, we have endured and grown stronger as a democratic nation because we have staked our democracy on the belief that an enlightened electorate will be able to govern itself. Or, put in another way, we have held that the greatest good of the greatest number, in the long run, will result from full franchise of an educated populace."

Morris spoke before the meeting of urban educators and laymen at the request of the U.S. State Department.

Here And There

A Twin City transit strike failed to keep UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA students from traveling between St. Paul and Minneapolis campuses recently.

When the intercampus bus ceased to run, the Minnesota Student Assn. quickly set up a "shuttle" service, using students' cars. Following the regular bus routes and stops, the students made it possible for those in St. Paul to make their Minneapolis classes on time.

Five years ago OREGON STATE COLLEGE had two students majoring in mathematics. The past year it had 80.

Falling grades were issued to freshmen law students for their mid-semester work at the UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY. The grades appeared suddenly, posted on plain stationery, and many bewildered freshmen law students saw D's and E's for half a semester of hard work.

Each year law students are given an exam number, known only by themselves and by the professor assigning it. Oddly enough, each year these exam numbers are posted with false grades. The practice of posting false grades has been carried on for a number of years.

Student At SIU Needs Tougher Courses

A 22-year-old senior near the end of his college education says Southern has prospered well during the past four years.

As an indication of the progress made by the University, Bill Bond, this week's Student at SIU said Thompson Point had not been constructed when he was a freshman.

"The biggest difference in Southern now and when I began is the number of buildings which have sprung up," he says. "Since I've been here, Thompson Point, the Life Science Building, Morris Library, the Home Economics Building and much University housing has been constructed."

Bill is majoring in business and plans to enter marketing research after serving time with Uncle Sam. He hails from East Alton and is a member of Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity.

Greek Relationship Good

Concerning Greeks, Bill says the relationship between Greeks and independents has improved tremendously compared to his freshman days. "At that time," he recalls, "there used to be snow fights between the two groups and quite a lot of antagonism."

He thinks the main reason for the relative peace now is the fact that the independents aren't so strong and as well organized as they were. I can remember when Southern used to have an Independent Student Ass'n. quon."

Bill says that being in a fraternity helps a person scholastically, because by living with a group of men with the same interests help can be obtained in various subjects.

Club Attempts To Improve Area Advertising Methods

An advertising club formed by the SIU Department of Journalism in 1955 is attempting to improve the messages and methods of advertising in the area through concentration on media and retailers alike.

Named Illinois for the three states represented—Illinois, Missouri and Kentucky—the club was started to benefit area advertisers. The SIU officials felt there were many in area advertising positions not specifically trained because of the more attractive positions of "big city" work luring top men away.

First, SIU sponsored an advertising sales promotion course and, after the 12 weeks, enrollees felt they wanted to continue getting together more often.

Illinois was formed at that time even though, says Dr. Donald G. Hileman, associate professor of journalism at SIU and executive secretary of the club, it was created based on "ideas that work, realized the club encompassed a lot."

In the first year, the Advertising Club at St. Louis sponsored the program, the second year, the Illinois State Historical Society of Chicago sent five top men to the workshop, one year kept people in area advertising were used, and in 1960—the fifth year—Campbell Media of Minneapolis will be in charge.

"Too often, advertising clubs a large number of retailers attend and even advertising classes in the meetings who do not really close kind organization could be easily listed."

"Now the group holds quarterly meetings, rotate between the three states, with 30 to 40 in attendance."

"We have a different group each time," says Hileman. "Campbell Media of Minneapolis will be in charge."

"We see this as encouraging—because our objectives are to improve grass roots' ad club—with the more area advertising by helping grass root problems our prime concern. It's a long-range point of view and their methods, and review, but we think we've got to better realize how to something to offer which other take advantage of the media with areas could adapt."

Illinois Story Published Here

The adventurous story of Illinois before starbush unfolds in a series of articles in the December "Illinois History," just printed at SIU for the Illinois State Historical Society.

Early French fur traders and missionaries, explorers, Indians, pioneer settlers, and military leaders who helped were the Illinois region from the wilderness stalk through the 10 special articles in the publication. Among the authors are school student historians David Redman of Aurora; Sandra Branner and Carol Lu Lege of Dixon; Helen Duck of Elgin; and Sheila Holson and Jane Cavanaugh of Evanston. They write on such subjects as the gallant frontier rangers who protected settlers from Indians, the saving of Illinois for America in the Revolutionary War, Indian troubles during the war of 1812, the French missionaries, and the shadow of slavery in pre-starbush days.

The periodical for youth, published monthly from October through May, is distributed free upon request to schools and public libraries in Illinois by the Illinois State Historical Society. Twenty-five thousand copies of the December issue were printed.

Excerpts from the reports, journals, and letters of early explorers, travelers, and settlers comprise an article by Thomas E. Felt, former field representative of the Illinois State Historical Library. His is one of three articles by nonstudent writers appearing in the December issue.

The January number will deal with famous Illinois women, according to Oliver S. Foster, director of Illinois history.

Botanists Write Plant Book

Two SIU botanists, Dr. Robert H. Mohlenbrock, Murphysboro, and Dr. John W. Voigt, Carbonade, have pooled their knowledge of area plant life in a new book, "A Flora of Southern Illinois," which was published yesterday by the SIU Press.

The authors have spent a combined total of 15 years and traveled more than 30,000 miles in studying and collecting plants of the area for this book. In it they also cite many specimens from other collections in the SIU herbarium, including the historic collection of Prof. French and the more recent collections of McCree, William Bailey and Julius Swaine. Identification for each of the nearly 1,600 species from 143 plant families found growing naturally in the region are made possible through the keys provided in the book. Included are about 200 new plants not previously identified with this area. Each plant identification included information on location and the collector.

The study area includes the 12 southern counties of Illinois. The northern boundary roughly follows the 38th parallel eastward from northwestern Randolph County. The Mississippi and Ohio Rivers form the other sides of the triangular region. The authors point out that geographic location and other conditions give the area wider than usual range.

50 Pct. Students To Work

One of every two students entering institutions of higher education in the 1959-60 school year will work their way through, SIU student employment specialist predicted this week.

Officials at Southern — where more than 3,000 students work on or off campus — reported that surveys taken recently show:

While some institutions have eliminated, unique and interesting programs of student employment, others do nothing whatever to help, or hinder, a student getting a job.

An increasing number of schools are employing a way of improving a student's education and are trying to relate the job to the major the student will have in college.

Studies on the scholarship of working students differ in results, but most indicate the student worker actually does better than his non-working counterpart.

Frank C. Adams, director of student employment at SIU, says the problem of the student worker has come to the considerable national attention in recent years through such groups as the President's Committee on Education Beyond the High School, the Committee on Discrimination in College Admissions, and the Educational Policies Commission, all of whom have stressed the financial barrier as one of the major reasons some college caliber prospects do not carry their education further than high school.

Some Help No Limit
In one recent survey, Dr. Rove Bryant, chairman of placement at SIU, found that of 35 midwest and southern institutions, 12 schools had no limit on the amount of work students could do during college, 24 schools allowed students not needing to work to compete with those who did, and most schools had no organized programs for determining the skills and abilities of students for particular jobs.

Roland Keene of SIU's employment office told of these institutions making unique or progressive movements in the student work field. Bert Vane Taylor, Berea, Ky., which provides all campus work including a number of self-supporting or profit-making auxiliary enterprises; Blackburn College, Carlinville, with a work program for the old, run by students, who recently constructed a new science building, and are now constructing ing a dormitory, and Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio, which expects each student to hold down regular jobs under private employers before graduation.

System At SIU
At SIU, the separate student employment office conducts some 12,000 interviews a year, maintains communication with 250 supervisors of student workers, keeps lists of employers needs, refers students to them, and follows through with evaluations of the students' performances.

"We feel work experience lends itself to certain very important and practical learnings, especially if attention is given to the development of proper attitudes and values such as the importance and dignity of work, the responsibilities and privileges of workers, and the like," says Keene.

On-campus work is designed to provide a realistic employment experience. Students work at a variety of jobs — food service, farm labor, laboratory, library, office work, post office, switchboard, printing and photography, driving cars and busses, survey crew, book store, laundry and dozent of others.

Even an "odd job" and "baby sitters" list is kept for students who need money, and for Carbondale and area residents who need the help.

SIU Music Record Here

"Music has been manifest in the life and spirit of Southern Illinois University since the school first opened its doors 85 years ago."

This striking statement begins an analogy of "Music From SIU," an RCA Victor long playing record cut recently on campus.

The 33 rpm. disc is now on sale at the University Bookstore for $4.95.

Included in the album are the AFROTC Singing Squadron, the University Choir and the SIU Marching Band. The cadets open the album with a vocal of the Alma Mater, composed by Morgan and conducted by Donald Canedy. "Fanfare" from "Invocation of Alberich," "Glory of the Gridiron" and "Go South-ern Go" come next in line, followed by "Hail to Saluki," by the University Band, under the direction of Robert Forman.

Air Force Song
The "U. S. Air Force Song" follows and "With A Little Bit of Luck" is sang by the Singing Squadron. "Bambles and Thorns," "How Fair is Thy Face" and "Good Night" conclude the first side. Robert Green, baritone and Ruth Batts, soprano, vocalize the last two numbers.

Side two begins with "O, Clap Your Hands" by the University Choir and brass ensemble with Keith Pierce at the organ. Robert S. Hines conducting. "To Take the Air A Bonny Lass was Walking" and "The Doe" prelude. "Come Away, Sweet Love" by the University Madrigal Singers.

'Prologue in Heavens'
The Southern Illinois Symphony Orchestra and University Choral Union, directed by Carmine Fiocelli, present "Prologue in the Heavens" from "Metastase" and the conclusion is "The Great Gate of Kiev" from "Pictures at an Exhibition" by Moussorgsky, presented by the symphony orchestra.

The record was originally planned for Homestead, but the cover was not accepted. The

Shrike, Bed, Fox Movies Scheduled

Three movies, one an outstanding Foreign Film, are scheduled for SIU moviegoers this weekend. The movies are "The Desert Fox," "The Shrike" and "Three Feet in a Bed."

"The Desert Fox" will be shown at 6, 8 and 10 tonight in Furr Auditorium. Starring are James Mason, Cedric Hardwicke and Jessica Lindy. The movie is a sat, successful film biography of one of the World War II generals most admired by the allies—Field Marshall Erwin Rommel.

Tomorrow's movie, to be shown at 6:30 and 8:30 p. m. in Furr Auditorium, is "The Shrike." It is the story of a Broadway director who, under temporary mental depression, unfolds a tale of escape from his estranged wife who has robbed him of his individuality. Starring in the film are Jose Ferrer and Julie Allston.

The French comic Fernandel stars in the Sunday movie, "Three Feet in a Bed" is a French farce of mistaken identity.

Fernandel, an unsuccessful vacuum cleaner salesman, is involved with a rich Argentine woman who thinks he is a painter, with whom she corresponds and with whom she is in love.

Upon realizing that the lady owns 400 hotels in Argentina, the salesman goes along with the ruse. All ends happily in the film, which has French dialogue with English subtitles.

The movie will be shown in Morris Library Auditorium. Admission to each of the movies is 25 cents and 40 cents.

Early Call For Summer Camp Jobs

Information received by the EGYPTIAN from the New York State Department of Labor recently calls for early application by students who are interested in summer camp counselor's jobs.

The Camp Unit of New York Employment Service's Professional Placement Center reports that prospects for these jobs are excellent. Early registrants, they say, may have an advantage over those applying later.

The Professional Placement Center, which is located in midtown Manhattan at 444 Madison Ave., is the center of recruitment for most camp counselor jobs, many of them outside the state. Students who cannot conveniently apply in person in New York City may do so by mail.

Jobs for general counselors from $100 to $400 a season plus free transportation and room and board at resident camps. Specialists in dance, drama, music, nature study, photography and athletics (especially swimming) can earn from $250 to $600.

Award Named For Deceased Ad Student

A scholarship award in honor of Larry Mann, an SIU advertising major who was fatally injured in an auto accident last spring, has been established by the Advertising Club at Southern Illinois.

The Larry Mann Award of $100 will be given to the advertising major with the highest scholastic average at the end of his junior year. This award, among others, will be presented at the annual J-Day banquet.

The money for the award was raised by the sale of the 1959 Obelisk and the sale of advertising for the activity calendar desk blotter distributed at the opening of the school year. The Advertising Club presents awards annually to promote interest in the advertising profession.

'Long Term Loan Policy'

Southern's student population is reminded of the National Defense Student Loan Fund, better known locally as the "long term loan."

All students who are in good standing with the University are qualified for the loan. Students must be full-time enrollees.

Purpose of the loan, according to the policies drawn up under Title II of the National Defense Education Act of 1958, is "to stimulate and assist in the establishment at institutions of higher education of funds for low-interest loans to students in need thereof to pursue their courses of study in such institutions."

When Southern first received the loan fund last year, special consideration was given those students with exceptionally high marks. One reason for the policy was the fact that a comparably small amount of money was a necessity. The University now has more funds for the program, and consideration may now be given all individuals.

12 Hours Required
Undergraduate students, in order to be eligible for the loan, must be carrying 12 quarter hours and graduate students must be carrying 10 quarter hours. Graduates having high school seniors may apply during their last semester if they have been admitted to Southern. All candidates must be United States nationals.

If a candidate's application for a loan is approved, the student must continue to meet the qualifications in order to continue receiving assistance from the fund.

Special consideration will be given those applicants with a "superior academic background who express a desire to teach in elementary or secondary schools."

Repayment of the principal of the loan, plus three per cent interest per annum, will be accelerated at the rate of 10 per cent per year, beginning one year after completion of, or withdrawal from, the educational program. The repayment schedule may be deferred up to three years if the borrower enters military service.

Special Teacher Payment
The loan and interest of any borrower who serves as a full-time teacher in a public elementary or secondary school, will be cancelled at the rate of 10 per cent per year for each academic year of teaching service, up to a maximum of elementary or secondary schools 50 per cent of the total loan.

A Campus-to-Career Case History

Mark Dollard (center) discusses an impending customer service problem with two of his supervisors.

There's a message for you in Mark Dollard's progress story

Mark C. Dollard earned his B.A. degree in English from Yale University in June, 1958. He joined the New York Telephone Company the following July 18th. Three and a half years later, he became a District Manager for the company in New York City — with a staff of 87 people reporting to him and responsibility for 49,000 customer accounts.

Mark's choice of a telephone career came after numerous job interviews in a variety of business fields. "What sold me," he says, "was the telephone company's reputation for solid managerial training, stability and growth. And I was impressed by the high caliber of people I met during my visit to the company."

And those are the things to which Mark credits his rapid advancement. His training during his first two years covered a wide range of activities — including the handling of customer contacts in the business office, selling communications services to businessmen and supervising a business office.

"It was the company's vigorous growth that created the opportunity for me to become District Manager in January, 1959," Mark points out.

"What I like most about my present position is the variety of managerial responsibilities I have," he says. "It's interesting, stimulating work. I deal with sales and marketing programs, handle personnel problems and make a lot of public relations contacts."

The message for you? Stability, growth, extensive training and genuine advancement opportunities all add up to rewarding careers with the Bell Telephone Companies. Be sure to look into the opportunities for you. Talk with the Bell interviewer when he visits your campus — and read the Bell Telephone booklet on file in your Placement Office. You'll like what you learn.

Gymnasts Vie For Midwest Crown; Cagers Open Up Against Quincy

Go For Title In Chicago

Gymnastic coach Bill Meade expects his toughest season with his strongest team tomorrow as the Salukis compete in the Midwest Open Championships in Chicago.

The Salukis finished seventh last season, but Meade expects the team to be "at least first or second."

The Salukis have practically the same team back this season that finished seventh in the NCAA last season.

Meade announced that he would take the following to Chicago to represent Southern Illinois: high bar, Ed Forster; rings, Len Kalakian, rumber, Bob Kies, side horse; John O'Connell, side horse; Gene Salomon, all-around; Jon Shuler, trampoline; John Taylor, all-around; Fred Higgins, parallel bar and Jack Wiley, all-around.

The Salukis coach also stated that he would take five freshmen to the meet who will compete unattached. Meade said that Ken Ashby, side horse; Fred O'Connell, all-around; Fred Higgins, parallel bar; and Tim Phillips, rumber, would compete.

Approximately 250 gymnasts will participate in the meet, one of the toughest in the country. Meade expects the Salukis to be in the Big Ten schools will enter a team along with the IAC conference schools. Independents from all over the country will also be entered. The Salukis open their season on Dec. 12.

SIU appears to be a "shoo-in" for their second consecutive conference title.

Grapplers Open At Invitational

Southern's grappling forces will open their 1959 season tomorrow at the Illinois Interscholastic Tournament in Champaign. Jim Bledsoe and Hermon Acres.

"With final exams being only a short time away, I want to give both boys a better chance to do their studying and remain eligible for the remainder of the season," Salukis Coach Jim Wilkinson pointed out. Both Acres and Bledsoe were ineligible at the beginning of last season.

Most of the state colleges and universities will send wrestlers to the tournament. No team titles are given, as the competition is on an individual level in each of the 10 weights.

Wilkinson indicated that the SIU team is tough in the 137, 147, 177 and heavyweight divisions. "We are looking overall in the heavier weight class, even without (Marion) Rushing (currently playing pro football with the Chicago Cardinals). Besides the lettermen, we have some good freshman talent," the Salukis coach pointed out. The following grapplers, according to Wilkinson, will probably wrestle for Southern at Champaign:

- 115 lb.—Izzy Ramos
- 123 lb.—Frank Coniglio
- 130 lb.—Rich Irvin, Deke Edwards
- 137 lb.—Dick Frankenberger, Frank Bulow
- 147 lb.—Jack Crider, Eric Frosch
- 157 lb.—Stan Bergmeier, Eddie Lewis
- 167 lb.—Larry Meyer, Roger Plapp
- 177 lb.—Ken Houston, Larry Wagner
- 191 lb.—Ken Pontikes, Gary Secker
- Hwt.—Houston Antwine, Ken Moore

Ex-SIU Great Plays For Winnipeg

Shannon Shines In Canadian Football

(Editors note: The following story of Carver Shannon, one of the greatest football players ever to come out of Southern, was sent to Bill Young at the SIU Information Service by Al Vickery, head writer for the Canadian Press. Shannon, who holds all SIU scoring and rushing records, is now a member of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Canadian Football League.)

When the Winnipeg Blue Bombers captured the 1958 Canadian Professional Football championship most fans thought coach Bud Grant would make few or no changes for the 1959 campaign.

But Grant, former Bombers star, captured the Philadelpha Eagles and the University of Minnesota before coming north, was not content to ride with the same roster.

One of the first spots he figured needed strengthening was at right halfback where K. E. Ploen played after losing a big quarterbacking job to Michigan's Jimmy Van Pelt midway through the 1958 season. Ploen had led Iowa to the Rose Bowl title in 1957 and was an All-American, winning NFL offers.

Ploen appeared out of place at halfback despite the Bombers' win in the Grey Cup — Canada's final sudden-death contest between the winners in the East and the winners in the West.

Although the majority of Bombers imports — each club is allowed to use 12 Americans in a game — come from the large American colleges, Grant came up with a halfback named Carver Shannon from Southern Illinois — a little-known college in that state.

Having a small college player on the Winnipeg roster was not new to fans here, for they already had one who had been with Bombers for four years in Leo Lewis from Lincoln (Mo.) college. Lewis, named to the 1958 Western All-Stars, was considered a cinch to keep his left half position.

Ernieing in Shannon proved to be a stroke of genius for he gave the Bombers the best backfield combination in the nine pro clubs in the country. With Van Pelt at quarter, Lewis and Shannon at halves and Charlie Shepard, a holdover from North Texas State, and Canadian Gerry James at fullback, the Bombers swept to their third successive western title.

Meanwhile, the Hamilton Tiger-Cats, coached by former NFL mentor Jim Trimble and quarterbacked by Maryland's

Carver Shannon

Bernie Faloney, captured their third straight eastern championship. The Bombers and Tiger-Cats met last Saturday at Toronto for the Grey Cup. The game is considered a saw-off contest as TI-Cats beat the Bombers 33-7 in 1957, while the big Blue and Gold machine came back last year to win 35-28.

Bombers were slight favorites to retain their title despite the loss of Van Pelt, who suffered a shoulder separation in the club's second last league game. Ploen, who has been playing safety on defense, was ushered back to the signal-calling job for the remainder of the season.

Shannon is expected to play a big part in Bombers' defense of their Canadian title. During the regular 16-game schedule, he finished 13th in the western league scoring with 44 points on seven touchdowns and two conversions. He was 11th in rushing with 512 yards net on 88 carries for an average carry of 5.8 yards. His longest run was a 53-yard gallop from scrimmage — best in the league this season — while he took a Van Pelt pass for 90 yards — second best pass gain this year.

Shannon also caught 31 of the 36 passes thrown his way for an 88 per cent performance. He picked up 517 yards and took six passes for touchdowns.

The speedy Southern Illinois graduate became a hit with the Winnipeg fans the first time he took to the field. His daring runs and split-second cuts also had spectators in the four other western league cities applauding.

Of Shannon, Coach B. W. Grant says: "Carver has tremendous potential. He is only just beginning to realize it, and he keeps improving every game."

Everybody across the west recognizes Shannon's ability and looks forward to watching him when he comes to their town. He should be better than ever next year with one season of pro ball under his belt."

And Shannon, who was born in Corinth, Miss., April 28, 1938, says he wants to come back to Canada next year.

"They really have treated me swell," he said as he packed his bag for the four-hour plane ride from Winnipeg to Toronto for the Canadian final. "Everything has been just what I needed. It would be like if I played for Winnipeg. I plan to return next spring if they want me."

Shannon said the change in rules and the lack of blocking presented some problems when he first got to Winnipeg, but "I'm getting the hang of them."

Carver believes the Canadian fans are more lively than those at home.

"I find that Winnipeggers take more interest in the game itself and take it to heart more. They are also more friendly with the players... everybody speaks to me when I'm walking down the street... they all seem to know who I am, and it's the same with all the players."

Shannon, who rooms with Canadian guard Ed Kotowich on the road, said he did not know much about Canadian football when he was first contacted last Christmas by coach Grant, a former manager at Houston.

"Mr. Grant was very sincere and it sounded like a good thing to come to Canada. I just wanted to play football, but naturally I enjoy playing with a winning team, and Bombers had just won the 1958 Grey Cup."

Shannon signed with Grant when the Winnipeg coach returned to see him two months later.

Neither he nor Grant has regretted the move. At for the Winnipeg fans, well, Shannon can do no wrong.

POULTRY MEN MEET ON CAMPUS

Southern Illinois poultry producers and hatchery men will take a hard look at egg marketing problems and the changing poultry picture in Illinois during a meeting at Southern Tuesday.

The Illinois Egg Council and the Illinois Poultry and Hatchery Federation are inviting all farm flock owners, hatchery operators, and feed men in the area to the meeting which will begin at 10 a. m. in the Agriculture Building Seminar Room.

Meet Hawks Monday Night

Southern's basketball Salukis will open the '59-'60 season on the road Monday at Quincy College.

Coach Harry Gallatin's probable lineup is Charlie Vaughn (6-2) and Don Hoyle (6-4) at forwards, Tom McGrath (6-5) at center, and Captain Dick Rogers (5-10) and Jim Gualdoni (6-2) playing the guard positions.

All five boys are returning lettermen from last year's squad that compiled a 17-10 record. Gone from the 58-59 team is Seymour Bryson, who was captain and played center. Bryson averaged 19.4 points per game.

Quincy opened its season with an 87-83 win over Carthage Tuesday night. They have a tall quintet with 6-6 Tom Campbell leading the offensive punch.

Last year's SIU-Quincy game, Southern was leading 39-35 at the half, but poured it on in the second half to whip the Hawks from Quincy 100-48.

This is Gallatin's second year at the SIU helm. Prior to coming to Southern he was the "Iron Horse" of professional basketball in the NBA for 10 years. His first effort as coach brought to Southern the high-scoring fast break, which was instrumental in the SIU's second place finish in the IAC and an invitation to the NCAA college division regional playoffs.

The 6-7 former ace rebounder for the Detroit Pistons and New York Knickerbockers came to SIU in the summer of 1958 as a replacement for Lynn Holder who was named graduate manager of athletics.

A Southern Illinois native, who graduated from Roxana High School in 1944, Gallatin will complete the traveling squad.

was a standout player at Northern Missouri State Teachers College before joining the Knicks in 1948.

During eight seasons with the Knicks, he racked up a host of team rebounding and scoring records. His 1,098 rebounds in 1954 set a league record.

Gallatin earned his nickname "The Iron Horse" by playing in 741 consecutive games, more than any other player in professional basketball history. Also during his career, he appeared in eight NBA all-star games.

Gallatin also announced that Randy McClary, Jim Rosser, Harold Bardo, Garrison Newsum, John Mees and Larry Esenpreis will complete the traveling squad.

SIU NETTER ADVANCES

Bob Spengelmeyer, freshman SIU, displayed some of the talent that may be in store for tennis fans next spring in the National Indoor Tennis Meet in St. Louis last week.

In the first round Spengelmeyer pounded Manfred Reetz of St. Louis, 6-1, 6-0, and Ronnie Johnson, also of St. Louis, 7-5, 6-2.

In the quarterfinal round, Bob was defeated by Chuck McKinley, top ranked junior netter in the United States, 6-2, 6-1.

In the doubles, Spengelmeyer teamed with Jerry Johnson, a freshman at Washington University in St. Louis. In the quarter finals, they defeated Steve Prosser, Kansas City, Mo., and Jerry Hirst, Oklahoma City, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4.

The two lost in the semi-finals to Frank Froehling, Cornell College, Ia., and Ray Senkow, Hantranck, Mich., national interscholastic champion this year, 7-5, 6-1.

Larson was the only Illinois college player named to the tournament. However, several were keeping their eyes on the pro tour.

Indiana scored a 57-38 dual swimming meet victory over Southern Tuesday at Bloomington, Ind.

Indiana, third in the NCAA finals last year, stroked to six first place ribbons in the 11 events.

Ray Padovan, Saluki Freshman from North Miami, Fla., set new SIU varsity records in winning the 50 and 100-yard freestyles. He stroked off the two sprints in 23.2 and 52.7. The old marks, set last year by Clyde Epperson, were 23.8 and 53.5. Padovan was the Florida state butterfly champ in high school.

"We should be stronger than we were last year," said swimming coach Ralph Casey. "We have a little depth."

Tomorrow the dogs will swim the Loyola University Relays at Chicago.

The results:

All-Star Cage Game Cancelled

The basketball games between the Saluki varsity and the "all star" scheduled for tonight, has been cancelled.

SIU was advised not to play the game by the NCAA to make sure that they were not playing too many games.

The game was to match the Saluki varsity against a team of coaches and former cage stars.

The SIU schedule calls for 21 regular season games and two tournaments in which the Salukis will play five potential games. The NCAA has a limit of 26 games.

Concerning The Outdoors

By Larry Mayer

Land? There is a good deal of complaining going on about the reduced season and the 3 p. m. daily quitting time. None of the hunters seem to be happy about the large amount of standing corn in the Oak Orchard Refuge area. More gripping than ever before can now be heard about the dollar rise (from $2 to $3) in the price of waterfowl stamps.

My guess is that little would have been said by those who purchased stamps if they would have had a moderate degree of hunting success this season. Certainly nobody wants to build a blind or dig a pit, pay $3 to shoot from it and spend a lot of hours sitting in it if he does not get at least an occasional period of shooting. When hunters do everything legal and the lawmakers cut down the length of the season and the daily shooting hours and the refuge management leaves an overabundance of food on the refuge, then most of the hunters will agree that they have a legitimate complaint.

The most valuable basketball players in the IAC last winter were B. J. Smith of Eastern Illinois and Grady McCollum of Western Illinois.

"I didn't buy a water fowl hunting stamp this season. I've had stamps for the last three straight years and never did get a shot at a duck or goose."

"I bought a stamp and haven't yet shot at a duck or goose."

"I've been out to my blind several times this season and haven't got a shot."

These statements seem to represent a sizable percentage of hunters. Others have not done much better. This is the first season in which I can remember that I haven't either fired a shot at a duck or goose or else hunted with someone who has not at the time got a shot.

What seems to be the feelings and explanations of those who hunt in the four southern Illinois counties which contain refuge land?
